A PUBLICATION OF THE CENTURY CLUB OF SAN DIEGO AND

TIGER WOODS MAKES HISTORY AT THE BUICK INVITATIONAL...AGAIN

Last year's victory at the 2007 Buick Invitational solidified Tiger's seventh straight win on the PGA TOUR, making it the second longest win streak in history behind Byron Nelson.

This year's 19-under par 269 win at the 2008 Buick Invitational not only marked his fourth consecutive Buick title (tying yet another PGA TOUR record for consecutive wins in a single tournament), but this win was also his 62nd career victory. A victory that tied him with the King, Arnold Palmer, for fourth place on the all-time PGA TOUR victory list.

"I'm sure that there are many, many more coming in the future," Palmer said. "There isn't any question about that."

Just like there was no question about the outcome. Woods opened with a 40-foot birdie putt, threw in a 60-foot birdie just to keep a four-deep gallery from falling asleep, and looked only mortal when he made three straight bogeys toward the end of his round. All it did was affect the final margin, not the name on the trophy.

The only surprise at the tournament was the weather. The forecast for Saturday night was for heavy rain overnight and into Sunday, with the possibility of a Monday finish. But the clouds cleared Sunday as Woods was warming up, and he played the front nine under brilliant blue skies. Only on the back nine did clouds return and temperatures plunged. He closed out his victory under a mixture of rain and clouds, and a smile that showed all was right in his world.

"You'd think it's surprising, but it's not," Charles Howell III said. "It's Tiger."

Other players like Jason Gore echoed the sentiment. "He's making history, end of story. The guy's the chosen one."

San Diego local native, Kevin Stadler, added, "Anymore, you just know you're not going to beat him. I shot a 72 (Sunday) and I think that's pretty good on the South Course, and he's getting it around in 66 (Saturday) and 67 (Thursday). He's not human."

Ryuji Imada, whose 67, matched the best score of the final round and was the runner up. "My goal today was to finish second," Imada said. "That's almost like winning the golf tournament to me."

BUICK INVITATIONAL

2009 BUICK INVITATIONAL

Bronson C. Jacoway, Jr. Elected President

The Century Club of San Diego recently announced the election of Bronson C. Jacoway, Jr. as President and General Chairman for the 2009 Buick Invitational.

The Century Club has organized and staged the long running PGA TOUR golf tournament in San Diego for the past forty seven years. The 2009 Buick Invitational will be Buick's eighteenth consecutive year as title sponsor and "we have been delighted to have the Buick Motor Division of General Motors as our partner", says Jacoway.

Mr. Jacoway was born in Little Rock, Arkansas and attended Little Rock Central High School. He graduated from Southern Methodist University and upon doing so reported to Officer Candidate School at Quantico, Virginia, to become a Marine Officer. After six years of military service, which included a tour in Vietnam, Mr. Jacoway left the Marine Corps with the rank of Captain.

He came to San Diego in 1968 with his wife, Linda, and joined the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. Over the years this company morphed into CIGNA Financial Advisors and most recently to Lincoln Financial Advisors. Mr. Jacoway enjoys an active financial planning practice with Lincoln.

Mr. Jacoway has served on numerous boards over the years to include: The Rancho Santa Fe National Bank Board, Past President of Ducks Unlimited, Child Abuse Prevention Foundation Board, the Marine Corp Recruit Depot Historical Society Board and the San Diego Boys and Girls Club Executive Board.

He lives in Carlsbad with his wife Linda and has two grown children and two grandchildren.

To quote Mr. Jacoway, "I am humbled and honored to be given the opportunity to follow in the footsteps of so many wonderful and talented past leaders of the Century Club of San Diego. I will strive to try and maintain the high level of philanthropic service to the community that the staff and members of the Century Club have established".
